Expenses still rising from Flood of '93 But cities getting federal funds

By Bob Slate
 Staff writer

While last summer's floodwaters have receded, work to repair damages associated with the Flood of '93 continues in Granite City and Venice.

As many as 50 of 57 sanitary sewer breaks in Granite City during the past year may have been related to high groundwater associated with the flood, authorities say.

Sewer breaks — while under ground and often hidden from view — can create unsanitary situations. And a relatively small failure, if ignored, can wash soil away and grow into a giant catastrophe by creating a huge pavement depression that can swallow an automobile.

Sewer breaks can also be costly to repair. Two sewer breaks in West Granite in the last year — one on Denver Street and another under Highway 9 — cost a total of more than $300,000 to fix.

If the city can provide evidence that those 50 sewer breaks were a direct result of the record flood, a federal agency will reimburse the city up to 90 percent of the costs associated with repairing them. That figure could climb to more than $1.5 million, according to city records.

City records show that 57 sewer failures have been identified and reported to the Federal Emergency Management Agency since the flood. FEMA gave cities until Aug. 1 of this year to report damages associated with the flood for possible reimbursement.

Any breaks that occur after that date — even if they can be proven to be flood-caused — are not eligible for FEMA reimbursement.

FEMA has said it will reimburse up to 90 percent of the costs associated with repairs to sewer lines damaged by the flood. So far, the city has expended $1,281,827 on repairs to 27 of the failed sewer lines.

FEMA has given the city a 90 percent assurance that repairs to those lines will be reimbursed at 90 percent of cost. A little more than $1.1 million has been approved at the 90 percent confidence level.

Of the 57 failures reported by the city, seven have been deemed ineligible for repair reimbursement by FEMA because no evidence could be found to indicate they were caused by the flood. Another six require further documentation before FEMA will reimburse the city for repairs. Thirteen more sites on the list have yet to be investigated.

Representatives of FEMA have been meeting weekly with Joe Juneau of Juneau Associates, the city's contractual engineer, to keep abreast of the situation. City Controller K.P. Macgregor.

"We are very pleased with the response we've had from FEMA," he said. (See FLOOD, Page 8A)

Brooklyn may receive windfall from settlement

Brooklyn Mayor Ruby Cook has plenty of ideas about what the village could do with a $1 million trust that would be set up for the village as part of a settlement of a suit against the owners of several area topless bars and massage parlors.

Cook said Tuesday that she has not seen the proposed agreement, but that the village would sure do a whole lot with a million dollars, including upgrading fire equipment, improving housing stock and upgrading village vehicles.

"What I would really like to see is a big recreation complex where the children could play, possibly over by the ball diamond," Cook said.

"But there are so many pressing needs."

The trust fund is called for in documents filed in federal court in East St. Louis last week that allege that at least three Brooklyn officials received bribes to

Suspect in shooting released

A shortage of witnesses has forced Madison County prosecutors to put an attempted murder suspect back on the streets.

Daniel DeRuntz, 39, of New Douglas, was released last week after Assistant State's Attorney Rich Rybak acknowledged he was not prepared to take the case to trial.

Attorneys had selected a jury the previous week and planned to begin trial.

DeRuntz is charged with the Nov. 3 attempted first-degree murder of Randall Duckett of Granite City. DeRuntz is accused of shooting Duckett in the neck and face with a 12-gauge shotgun while driving on Illinois Route 111 near

Mediation sought in talks Madison school negotiations continue

By Hilley Schulte
 Staff writer

Even though teachers have no contract, the school board, administration and teachers' union say they expect Madison schools to start Aug. 22 as planned, without a teachers' strike.

Both the Madison teachers' union and the Madison School District 12 Board of Education have called upon outside negotiators for assistance with contract negotiations, which have been going on since January. Currently, the board and the union are disagreeing over financial matters.

Members of the board negotiating team met Friday and set Aug. 23 as the next round of negotiations. School begins Aug. 22.

"It seems now that school could start on time," said Hilda Everage, interim superintendent. According to Everage, the teachers' union must file with the board 15 days prior to striking. So far, nothing has been filed.

Board President John Hamm III said the board needed an outside negotiator because "we're getting into the technical part. The next part would be mediation."

A federal mediator is an objective third party who evaluates negotiations and offers advice to both sides. Hamm doesn't believe a mediator will be necessary, "but there are rules that have to be complied with. That's why we're bringing in outside negotiators."

The board negotiator is Ron Booth, and the teachers' union negotiator is Ben Schutzenhofer. According to Don Smith, president of the Madison teachers' union, Schutzenhofer is a field service director for the union and will cost the teachers nothing. "The school district will pay three or four thousand dollars for their negotiator," Smith said.

Smith said teachers are disappointed that the board couldn't meet sooner, but are anxious to negotiate a contract. He said the union is hopeful about negotiations and believes a contract can be agreed upon.

Smith does not anticipate a teachers' strike and said school will start Aug. 22 as scheduled. "There's not going to be a strike, and I never said that there was. We're still negotiating in good faith," Smith said.

However, even though Smith said teachers do not want to strike and that they'll do anything to avoid it, "we won't take

DCFS hot line calls mounting

Agency tries to answer cry for help

SPRINGFIELD — About 12:30 one recent afternoon, a member of the Alton Police Department made a routine call to the state's child protection agency to report on a home.

Garbage and filth were everywhere, the officer said. So were flies and roaches. There were no utilities, not even running water, and the only food was a half-gallon of milk in a cooler. Amid all this were three children, who hadn't been bathed in a long time.

On the same day, a Granite City landlady called the agency to report he saw a 1-year-old daughter and 2-year-old son on their heads. Both children already had cuts and bruises on their bodies and faces. The mother had been reported before.

The same agency received a call from another Granite City resident, wanting to report a stomach coming from a nearby house where a 3-year-old girl lived. It was the fourth such report in six weeks. On visiting the home, an investigator found moldy food, roaches and cat feces on the floor and walls. The child had head lice. Police reports said officers had been called to break up fights between the young mother and the often-absent father.

The stories are nothing new for the Department of Children and Family Services, or for Katy Kilbaitis, a child welfare specialist who has worked the DCFS child abuse and neglect hot line in Springfield for six years.

In fact, Kilbaitis said, they are less violent examples of some of the things operators hear every hour of every day.

"When I started, I really felt like I was solving everyone's problems," Kilbaitis said. "Now, I realize these problems will be going on forever most likely. And there always will be another call coming in."

In a year marked by high-profile cases of abused children, the agency's 14-year-old hot line has again had a record number of calls. There were 369,309 calls made to the line in the fiscal year that ended June 30, almost a 10 per cent jump from the year before when a record was also set.

About 35 percent of calls are investigated by the agency's 25 percent are referred to other state or social services agencies. 20 percent don't meet the legal criteria of abuse or neglect and the remainder are crank or hang-up calls.

Officials attribute the increase to heightened public awareness of child abuse and a rise in societal ills, most predominantly drugs and poverty.

"Certainly one of the big things we've noted is the (increased) number of cases where there is some sort of drug involvement," said Ed Cotton, administrator for the DCFS State Central Register, which operates the hot line.

"Whether it's cocaine-infected infants, which are skyrocketing, or it's a case where mom and dad are using all the money for drugs and the kids are neglected and don't have any food, the numbers continue to rise," Cotton said.

But the question remains whether any state agency can mend broken ties between children and their parents.

"I'd like to think somehow we could go back — not that we will — (to) what children and others in the community got involved," Kilbaitis said. "Someone needs to take responsibility. The kids down the street should be just as important to you as your own."

The escalating calls have caused the already understaffed office to use a message-taking system during busy hours.

Grand jury to investigate Darr's condition at time of accident

Safety program slated Saturday

The Granite City Fire Department and the J.C. Penney Catalog Store are teaming up for the second annual Child Safety Day.

The event will be held from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m. Aug. 13 at the Penney's Catalog Store in Crossroads Plaza.

Firefighters will be at the store to talk with children about fire safety. "Pluggy," the fire hydrant robot, will be on hand to entertain the kids. Also, the fire department's Fire Safety Smokehouse will be on site.

The public is invited to attend. Free refreshments will be served. J.C. Penney will be giving away gift certificates, identification kits, gifts for the kids and balloons. Anyone can enter a drawing for a $200 shopping spree or four sport bags to be given away by J.C. Penney.

For more information, call 451-0545.

Prosecutors tried to subpoena Madison County Emergency Management Agency Director Lanny Darr's blood test results almost two months ago but backed off when Darr's medical condition worsened.

"We had issued a subpoena in the first part of June, but then we heard he was near death," State's Attorney William Haine said Thursday, a day after he announced a grand jury investigation into whether Darr was drunk when he crashed a county-owned van May 31 in Alton.

"We killed the subpoenas, and (Assistant State's Attorney) Rich Rybak worked out a deal with the lawyers at Alton Memorial (Hospital) to preserve everything for us because we were concerned that, over time, blood samples and other potential evidence could be destroyed or disposed of," Haine said.

Darr suffered several broken ribs and a punctured lung when the county van he was driving veered off Homer Adams Parkway, hit a pole and rolled end over end into a ditch.

He was taken to the Alton Memorial emergency room before being transferred to St. Louis University Hospital.

At the time, no DUI charges were filed.

But at least two witnesses to the accident, passers-by who offered first aid to Darr before police and paramedics arrived, have come forward claiming Darr smelled of alcohol.

A grand jury is expected to hear testimony from the witnesses Thursday and learn the results of blood tests taken the night of the accident.

Prosecutors, however, may not gain access to Darr's hospital records without a fight, Haine indicated.

In early June, Darr's son, Lanny Darr II, an Alton attorney, wrote Haine a letter threatening to ask a judge to quash the original subpoena for medical records on the grounds that prosecutors had no reason to suspect Darr had been drinking before the accident, Haine said.

"(Lanny Darr II) may do it again," Haine said. "I suspect he will, though I don't think he has a legal leg to stand on."

The grand jury can subpoena any records or documents it deems necessary to complete its inquiry because it has wider investigatory powers than prosecutors, Haine said.

Lanny Darr II has not returned phone messages. His father, who was released from St. Louis University Hospital two weeks ago, has also failed to return phone calls.

Haine said he was prepared to convene a grand jury in early June to investigate the Darr accident but abandoned those plans when Darr contracted pneumonia in the hospital.

"The guy was on a respirator. We didn't want to look morbid making him the subject of a grand jury when he was fading fast," Haine said.

When Darr recovered and was released from the hospital, County Board member Tony Boesch of Wood River urged Haine to resume the investigation.

The May 31 crash was Darr's second involving a county-owned vehicle in less than a year.

In June 1993, Darr's county-issued car jammed into another car on Illinois Route 140 in Bethalto. Darr was charged with DUI but the charge was later dropped.

Danny Sipes replaces Hatton on Madison school board

By Hiley Schulte
Staff writer

After a moment of silence Thursday to recognize the death of former board member Bill Hatton, who died earlier that day, the Madison School District 12 Board of Education named a new board member.

Acting on a motion by board member James Newsome, the board unanimously voted to elect Danny Sipes to the board to serve until the next election. Sipes is a resident of Madison and attended Madison schools. He is a lieutenant for the Madison County Sheriff's Department. In other action, on the recommendation of Interim Superintendent Hilda Everage, the board hired Rose Wesson as Madison High School principal. The board also hired Robert Lenhardt as middle school reading teacher. Vanessa Brown for high school special education, Aimee Pullen as middle school special education teacher and Laura Keiser as a Harris School kindergarten teacher.

Resignations were accepted from teachers Veronica Douglas and Mark Jiles.

In other business, the sole bid from Millennium to remove the asbestos from the old junior high school was accepted at $97,100.

Due to lack of funds, the board elected to drop girls' volleyball and cross country at the high school level. Last year, the Booster Club picked up the costs of the sports, but this year the club doesn't have the funds and neither does the school district.

The board voted to resubmit bids for demolition of the old junior high school, and a minimum price of $75,000 was decided upon for the sale of Louis-Baer School.

The high school will see an improvement to its sign some time this year. The Madison Junior Services Club recently offered to help with the cost of supplies to renew the faded sign.

Since Sherrill Byrd, art teacher, is willing to use the classroom as a workshop, the students will do the artwork for the sign.

The board accepted another donation, from Bill Simmons. Simmons donated a power scrubbing machine from Shell Oil. The board voted to accept the donation and send a letter of appreciation to Simmons.

The board agreed to send Everage and Marianna Kaminski, and any board member who wishes to attend, to a finance workshop Aug. 9 in Marion. Finally, following executive session, the board voted to purchase a tape recorder to record board meetings.

School district's United Way volunteers honored

United Way volunteers from Granite City School District #9 were recently honored at a luncheon held at Coordinated Youth and Human Services.

Last year, school district employees contributed $26,215 for local United Way programs and services.

Assistant Attorney General Dennis Orsey, a United Way board member, hosted the event.

School Superintendent Steve Balen, also a United Way board member, also participated in the program.

Cindy Mills, principal at Frohardt Elementary School and a United Way board member, presented an overview of the United Way campaign. Mills and Betty Nighossian served as coordinators for the district's United Way campaign last year.

Linda Hill and Terri Papa, representatives from the PLUS program (Positive Learning with Us), a United Way-supported program focusing on drop-out prevention, were the featured speakers.

Other guests attending were Helen Schmissner, Nancy Sanders, Paula Kwiatkowski, Ron Stern, Mary Voss, Missy Kozyak, Marge Burdge, Janis Patton and Linda Finazzo.

GCC to host student orientation on Thursday

Fall students need not feel dazed and confused on their first day of class at the Granite City Campus of Belleville Area College.

GCC will host a student orientation session from 6 to 8 p.m., Thursday, Aug. 11, at the campus, 4950 Maryville Road, to help prepare students for their college careers. The fall student orientation session is open to fall students and their families. Summer students returning for the fall semester are welcome to attend with their families as well.

The evening will include a welcome to the campus, a discussion of campus services, tours of the campus, department and service information booths and short workshops. The workshops students may choose from include: Facts — Just the Facts, Study Smart, Academic Anxiety, S.T.A.R.S. — Significant Thoughts on Adult Returning Students, Career Planning and College: What's Important to Me. In addition, each student will be provided with a campus resource guide, filled with helpful facts about the campus, to use throughout the year.

U of I to hold classes at SIUE

The University of Illinois will offer three courses on the SIUE campus this fall.

The courses at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville are Soils 303: Soil Fertility and Fertilizers; Horticulture 236: Turfgrass Management; and Library Science 405: Library Administration.

"These are unique opportunities," said University of Illinois spokesman William Sutton.

He said the courses are unlike any offered at SIUE.

Soils 303 will meet from 6:30 to 9:45 p.m. on Mondays from Sept. 12 through Dec. 12 in Lovejoy Library.

The class will include a session on Saturday, Nov. 12, on the University of Illinois' Champaign-Urbana campus.

Horticulture 236 meets from 6:30 to 9:45 p.m. Mondays Sept.

12 through Dec. 12 at the Cooperative Extension Service office in University Park on campus.

Library Science 405 meets from 9 a.m. to 12:15 p.m. Saturdays Aug. 27 through Dec. 3.

The Aug. 27 and Oct. 8 classes will be on the Champaign-Urbana campus and the others in Lovejoy Library.

"The University of Illinois' Division of Extramural Programs will also offer an educational psychology course and a sociology course statewide via Telenet, a telephone network linking sites around the state.

They are offered in cooperation with the Cooperative Extension Service.

Sutton said sites are determined based on enrollments. Registration is required no later than Aug. 30.

The Telenet courses are

Educational Psychology 399-HK, Issues and Developments in Educational Psychology, 6 to 9 p.m. Sept. 10 to Dec. 6; and Rural Sociology 407, Special Problems in Rural Sociology: Public Policy Education, 4 to 7 p.m. Tuesdays, Sept. 6 to Dec. 6.

For more information, contact Sutton at the University of Illinois office of statewide programming at 10606 Lincoln Trail, Fairview Heights IL 62208.

The telephone number is 338-7989.

The University of Illinois also offers nearly 135 undergraduate courses through correspondence study.

For more information, contact the office of statewide programming in Oak Brook at (708) 990-0740 or the Division of Guided Individual Study at Champaign-Urbana at (217) 333-1321.

Ground Cover

The Ideal Solution For Those Problem Areas!

FRANK'S NURSERY & CRAFTS

Where Beautiful Things Begin

Problem areas in the landscape are something that most people are faced with at one time or another. You know, those spots in the yard where grass refuses to grow. Under dense shade trees, near large shrubs, in dark corners, etc. No matter what type of grass you plant, it simply won't cooperate.

There's a good reason. Grass needs sunlight to grow and that's that. Years ago they tried all sorts of ways to get grass to grow in indoor sports stadiums, but to no avail. Natural grass under a roof just doesn't exist today. Well, not quite. During the recent World Cup, where artificial turf is a no-no, some of the games were played inside a domed stadium. How? Quite simple. The sod was brought in for the soccer games, then removed before the grass succumbed.

Anyway, back to the basics. Since grass won't grow in dark areas, what'll? Ground cover. There are several perennial ground covers that thrive in those dimly lit areas. English ivy, vinca, ajuga and pachysandra are a few. These are easier to grow than grass and require less care.

Like anything else, you must prepare the soil to plant ground cover. Loosen the soil before planting by spreading a 2-inch layer of peat and some Frank's Bone Meal over the area.

Roto-till or spade it in. Plant the rooted cuttings using the spacing recommended on the tag, usually about 8 to 12 inches between plants.

Keep the area well watered, but not saturated. This will avoid stressing the new plant.

Weeds can plague ground cover just like a lawn. Good news and bad news. The good news is that the weeds tend to be weak, lanky and quite easy to pull out. The bad news is that weeds in ground cover are harder to spot, hiding under the thick cover.

Weed preventers such as Preen® or Preen 'n' Green® do an excellent job of keeping weeds from gaining a foothold in the first place. Using a mulch is another way. Using both is even better. The weed preventer can be used until the ground cover has thickened enough to choke out weeds on its own.

Ground cover doesn't require a lot of care over the years, either. Just about all you really need to do is feed in the spring and early summer. Frank's All Purpose Lawn & Garden Food will do the job.

Give the ground cover a couple of years and it will become a dense mat that is a striking contrast to the usual grass lawn. The bare area that once defied every attempt at planting will become a welcome, beautiful enhancement to your landscape.

Crafty Ways To Spend Time
If you're looking for a great way to pass time during the mid-summer heat, enrolling in a craft class could be just the thing! They're being offered at all Frank's stores in this area. Many topics are covered, and one's sure to be to your liking. Do yourself a favor and check them out.

Wood Working
The next time you feel a bit ambitious, a good chore to do now is rotate the pile of firewood, especially if you've added to it recently. Keep the oldest, driest wood on top. When the cold blasts of winter are upon us, you'll have the easiest-to-burn wood at your fingertips.

House OKs funds for complex

By Bonita Tillman
Staff writer

Slightly more than three months after St. Clair County got its first check to build a new housing complex at Scott Air Force Base, the U.S. House of Representatives approved the final payment.

The Senate is expected to pass the measure this week with the president's signature to follow.

The $30 million in federal money represents the final half of the funds promised by the federal government toward the project. The state of Illinois and St. Clair County have committed a joint $30 million as well.

U.S. Rep. Jerry Costello, D-Bellefonte, said the project had stalled during the George Bush administration, but he found new commitment for the work from President Bill Clinton.

"Our efforts to secure federal funds for Cardinal Creek are complete," he said. "St. Clair County can move on to the dual tasks of constructing the new Cardinal Village and the continued work on Mid-America Regional Airport."

County officials accepted the first $30 million installment at a brief ceremony in April at the site, calling it a good example of government cooperation.

If Cardinal Creek, now called Patriot's Landing, remained at its current site, it would be between two runways when Mid-America Airport is completed. Although not a hazard, U.S. Air Force officials have demanded that it be moved for the benefit of residents.

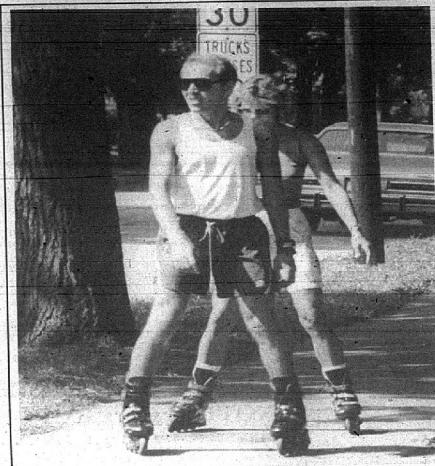

Col. Larry Calhoun said the new site would improve the quality of life for base personnel.

Help

Workers ask nonemergency callers if some one from DCFPS can get back to them, normally within an hour.

"They have always called back," said Mary Homeier, social service director of Alton Memorial Hospital. "We give them the information. If they suspect abuse they file a report and send it to the local DCFPS office, who then calls us to follow up."

The reports are faxed to the appropriate DCFPS investigative field office. The law requires an investigator to make a visit within 24 hours of the call. If the investigator decides abuse or neglect occurred, the child is either removed from the home or stays there under DCFPS supervision.

"One of the toughest things hot line workers have to deal with is that they're always kind of on the fence," Cotton said. "They have to balance the state's obligation to protect children with the parents' right to raise their children the way they want."

Surprisingly, the turnover rate for hot line workers is only 6 percent to 8 percent. Workers need a bachelor's degree in social work and two years' experience in some type of social service.

Each worker is taking about 40 calls a day or 200 a week," Cotton said. "I doubt there's any other job where you'll make 40 decisions a day."

To report a suspected case of child abuse or neglect, call (800) 25A-BUSE. The hot line operates 24-hours a day.

Flood

FEMA," MacTaggart said. As of Friday, the city had received $899,799 from FEMA for reimbursement for flood-related expenses, including $811,228 for sewer repairs. In addition to sewer repairs, that figure should include other flood-related costs such as debris removal, potable water distribution and levee sandbagging.

Bids for documentation or repairs to nine other sewers have been received and work is expected to begin on those lines as soon as the City Council authorizes the work.

Most of the emergency sewer repair work has been done on a contractual basis. The city's street department repaired another break. Costs associated with work performed by city forces are also eligible for FEMA reimbursement.

Juneau said he expects the total bill will easily come to more than $1.5 million.

In Venice, at least 10 sewer breaks have been identified as flood-related. FEMA has appropriated more than $350,000 for repairs to those lines, including $334,029 to reconstruct a sewer main near Fourth Street.

less Show Clubs in Sauget and Centerville and Roxy's in Brooklyn.

Prosecutors say the nightclubs facilitated the operation of massage parlors that served as houses of prostitution, including Above the Red Garter and Touch of Glass near Roxy's and The Centerville Health Spa, located adjacent to the P.T.'s showclub in Centerville. Below the Red Garter was located in Brooklyn in the basement of the building that housed The Red Garter and Above the Red Garter, prosecutors have said.

Harold Watkins Lowrie of Denver was primary owner and controller of H.L. Enterprises and was under indictment when he died last April.

H.L. Enterprises is charged with conspiring to launder $2.9 million in prostitution money.

A factual stipulation filed last week by the company and prosecutors as part of a proposed guilty plea agreement states that Brooklyn officials received bribes in the mid-to-late-1980s to cover up alleged illegal operations at the massage parlors/houses of prostitution.

The stipulation states that bribes were paid weekly to former Brooklyn Mayor Marcellus West, now deceased, and that other Brooklyn officials received bribes. Former Mayor James Davis Sr. and former Police Chief Eugene Douglas—brother of former Mayor Raymond Douglas, who was ousted by voters in a special election earlier this year—have also been indicted for allegedly accepting bribes.

Eugene Douglas also faces a charge of trying to bribe an undercover Illinois Liquor Control Inspector working for the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

As part of the plea agreement filed Friday, the company has agreed to sell Roxy's, The Red Garter, and an office building and condominium in Belleville to help pay a criminal fine of more than $1 million and to establish a $1 million trust for Brooklyn residents.

A sentencing hearing is scheduled for Nov. 4 before U.S. District Judge William Skidell. H.L. Enterprises could be fined up to $5.8 million.

Two of the company's employees, Arthur John Peole, 40, of Belleville and Sylvester Huddley, 62, of Brooklyn, pleaded guilty July 18 to federal charges of racketeering, conspiracy to participate in a racketeering enterprise, money laundering, conspiracy to commit money laundering, and the inducement of individuals to travel in interstate commerce for the purpose of prostitution. They also face sentencing Nov. 4.

Huddley faces up to 35 years in prison and a fine of up to $9,750,000. Prosecutors say he was the front man for the operation of the massage parlors and The Red Garter.

Peole, who served as supervisor of the P.T.'s nightclubs, could serve up to 400 years and be fined up to $10,000,000 for his part in the operation. Prosecutors say he received receipts and records from the prostitution activity at the main P.T.'s office in Belleville.

Horseshoe Lake Road. Madison County Associate Judge J. Lawrence Keshner released DeRuntz on his own recognizance after Rybak admitted he was not able to locate witnesses.

"There were some witnesses that could not be reached," Rybak said. "The trial has been reset for October."

DeRuntz was ordered to have no contact with his alleged victim.

Records show Duckett was convicted in 1983 of sexually molesting a relative of DeRuntz. Relatives told police DeRuntz vowed to get even with Duckett. The trial has been tentatively reset for Oct. 10.

DeRuntz is the second violent crime suspect released by authorities in less than a month.

Jimmy Lee Tate, 47, of Alton, was released July 11 from the Madison County Jail after Assistant State's Attorney Craig Jensen acknowledged he was not prepared to take the case to trial.

Tate, charged with the Jan. 27 first-degree murder of Quinton Scales in Alton, was released on electronic monitoring and ordered to stay inside his home.

Jensen has said he agreed to Tate's release because the 120-day deadline for bringing a defendant to trial was about to elapse.

Jensen said he requested a continuance because he was waiting for blood work from the Illinois State Police crime lab in Fairview Heights.

Tate was sentenced for murder in 1976 after he was convicted of murdering his brother-in-law. He was being held in the county jail in lieu of $750,000.

Tate is accused of shooting Scales, 30, in the head, abdomen and chest.

More drug tests are on the way

I have a friend whose son visited a college campus as a football recruit last year and returned home with no desire to see the place again.

Yes, it was a school in Illinois, and no, I'm not about to point a finger at the school or its players or coaches for steroid use.

In time, if the abuse persists, the National Collegiate Athletic Association will take the problem and slap the proper wrists.

WHAT'S HAPPENING with the NCAA is a long time coming, and after implementing drug testing in 1990 on the Division I levels (I-A and I-AA), the NCAA will begin random testing on the Division II level this fall.

Eventually, Division III will be a target, and a sure bet is that in addition to testing year-round in football and track and field, the association will expand testing to basketball.

According to the current plan, the NCAA will notify a school 48 hours in advance of the testing and then randomly select 14 student-athletes from a squad list.

Persons found to test positive will be ruled ineligible as soon as a specimen is found to be such at one of the NCAA laboratories at UCLA and Indiana University.

One of my hopes is that publicity will be generated about the drug testing regardless if offenders are found or not. The message has got to filter down to the high school level that there's no future in steroid or drug use of any kind. My friend's son walked away from one campus having witnessed otherwise.

EXTRA INNINGS: When Edwardsville came back from a one-game deficit to defeat O'Fallon for the District 22 playoff crown on July 31, the champs got what they needed in the form of 7½ innings of pitching from Jeff Utchick, who was on the mound with just two days of rest.

His 7-3 triumph in the second game of a doubleheader sweep ended the strain that comes in nine-inning games. In addition, reliever Ryan Boyle went 1½ innings Sunday after hurling 5½ in the opening defeat.

Prior to the first game of the Sunday twinbill, I asked O'Fallon coach Dan Blazier about the difference between regular season and first-round playoff games that are seven innings.

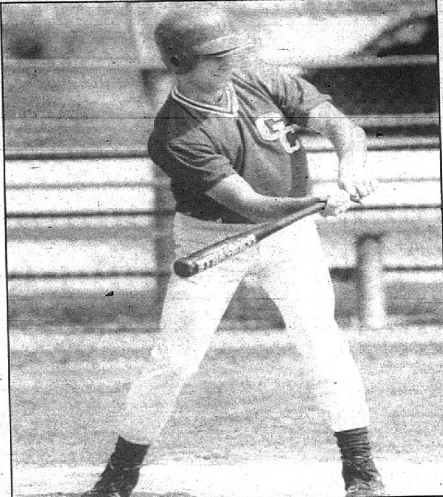

"It makes a difference," Blazier said. "The pitchers are not accustomed to going nine. What I do is think, 'five, seven and then nine.'"

BLAZIER GOT THE nine in the first game of the series from Dan Wetter in a 13-5 victory, but when second-game starter Don O'Koskie lasted just six innings and O'Fallon trailed 6-4, the game's strategy changed.

Momentum then turned to Edwardsville, whose shortstop Jesse Bugger sparked matters with 7-for-9 hitting, including 4 for 4 in the second game.

Most deceiving was the 17-13 record Edwardsville took into the Fifth Division Tournament, since it was obvious the Post 199 team coached by Ken Schaeke had improved all summer.

Fifth Division title sends Edwardsville to state

By Rob Raphael
Correspondent

Feeling a little embarrassed after the first Fifth Division championship game Saturday at Centralia, Edwardsville Post 199 decided to do a little embarrassing itself.

Harrisburg won the first game 14-8, but it should have let the sleeping dog lie, as Post 199 stormed back for a 21-1 blowout win in the second game to earn the Fifth Division title and a trip to the state tournament in Arlington Heights.

IN WHAT APPEARS to be a season of destiny for Edwardsville (21-14), coach Ken Schaeke said he is not surprised by his team's trip to the state tourney.

"After the win last week (against O'Fallon), I'm not shocked by anything this team does," he said.

"But certainly at this point, I am completely ecstatic."

Edwardsville's next opponent is Arlington Heights, the host team of the state tournament. The game is scheduled for 7:30 p.m. tonight (Wednesday) at the Chicago suburb.

Harrisburg ended its season at an impressive 41-13. Post 167 coach Greg Davis said he was disappointed with his team's finish Saturday.

"THIS IS THE kind of game that leaves a bad taste in your mouth all winter," Davis said. "Just as everything we hit fell in the first game, everything they touched fell in for a hit in the second game."

Both teams were strapped for (See TITLE, Page 5B)

Geography kit combines learning, fun

By Dan Grumich
Staff Writer

As a graduate of St. Louis University, Susan Anthony has always had a keen interest in her alma mater.

That's why when Anthony heard about the Billiken Sporting Geography program sponsored by SLU, she thought it just might be the perfect teaching supplement to use in her fourth-grade class at St. Norbert Catholic Grade School in Florissant, Mo.

"I read about the program in an Archdiocesan newsletter and I decided to look into it," explained Anthony, who completed her first year of teaching at St. Norbert last June. "At first I thought the program might just be a big advertisement for St. Louis University, but when I saw the material, it was very impressive. It was very challenging and the kids enjoyed it because it had to do with sports."

Billiken Sporting Geography is the brainchild of Karen Fox, who first developed the program at Vanderbilt University in 1988. Fox brought the program to SLU in 1991. The St. Louis University version traces the travels of the Billiken soccer and basketball teams.

THE SOCCER KIT features 10 weekly lesson plans and runs from mid-September through mid-November. The basketball kit includes 19 weekly lesson plans that run from mid-November through February.

As the students follow the path of the Billikens, they learn about the various destinations using activity kits and lessons. The lesson plans follow the five themes of geography — location, place, human environment, interactions, movement and regions.

"The primary focus was to teach map skills and history," said Anthony. "It was a good

Hendrickson, Duncan lead way in Mon-Clair playoff opener

Come playoff time, the Granite City Eagles don't wait for things to happen.

The Mon-Clair Baseball League's North Division regular-season champs took control early in Saturday's single-elimination contest against East St. Louis and breezed to an 8-0 victory.

The Eagles scored four times in the opening inning off Colt 45 starter Marlow Ferguson and added three more tallies in the next two innings to put the game away early.

Granite City advanced to this weekend's double-elimination, four-team playoff round, scheduled to be played at Longacre Park in Fairview Heights.

THE EAGLES, the league's two-time defending champions, will face Valmeyer at 10 a.m. Saturday. The Lakers advanced after defeating Millstadt 10-5 on Saturday.

Waterloo will play East Alton in the first double-elimination game at 7:30 p.m. Friday. The

SLU-sponsored program hits home with teachers, students

By Rick Knickerbocker
Staff writer

For the upcoming school year, St. Louis University has again teamed up with Sporting Geography to give students an interesting and informative device to learn geography.

So far the program has been extremely effective, said Sporting Geography director Karen Fox, who first developed the program at Vanderbilt University.

"In St. Louis, the program started in 1991 with the Billikens," Fox said. "I started the non-profit agency that runs it in 1988. It started as a volunteer activity in the community, and it continues to grow."

"We've gotten very high response rates. Teachers have rated this program above what they're using. It's really exciting to get such positive feedback from teachers."

The Billiken Sporting Geography program teaches students geography using the different Billiken sports teams schedules and road trips as teaching tools.

STUDENTS LEARN about location, region, place and environment for all of St. Louis University's opponents while also following the team's travel plan.

For example, said the Billikens men's soccer team was making a trip to Greensboro, N.C. Students would not only learn about Greensboro, they would also learn about the southeast region, time zones and how the Bills would make their way across the country to (See PROGRAM, Page 5B)

Brother duo outlast Schrader in Tri-City showdown

By Rob Raphael
Correspondent

It was a very long journey for Ken Schrader, and he completed his day-long trek by finishing third in the Carquest/AC Delco 50 Saturday night at Tri-City Speedway.

Joe Kosiski, of Omaha, Neb., won the event for the second straight year, edging his brother Steve by three car-lengths to take the checkered flag.

Schrader, the Pontiac, Mo., native who started his career at Tri-City, was appearing in his fourth NASCAR race at Granite City. Schrader won the event in 1990 and 1991.

Earlier Saturday, Schrader competed in the inaugural Tri-City Sprint car race at the Indianapolis (Ind.)

Speedway ever, and the first non-Indy event there in more than 90 years.

SCHRADER FINISHED seventh in that event. After that 400-mile race, he flew the 200 or so miles to St. Louis, then drove over to Granite City and raced the final 25 miles at the Speedway.

Schrader finished the Brickyard race at 3 p.m. and was at Tri-City at 6 p.m. "We got the Indianapolis police to escort us to the airport," he said. "I think that trip was maybe the most exciting driving we did all day."

He said the experience of driving on the Indy track was unforgettable.

"It's such a big deal, and I didn't quite realize how big until I started my engine before the race," Schrader said. "That's when the hairs on my neck stood up."

However, it could have been even more important if not for six other drivers.

Schrader added it was always a thrill to come back to Tri-City.

"IT'S ALWAYS FUN to race here," he said. "I've wrecked just about everything on this track that you can. It's great to come home and see so many familiar faces."

Schrader started in the fifth position, with Lane Meyer holding the pole position. Joe Kosiski took the lead almost immediately, with brother Steve back at fourth place after the first lap.

Schrader nearly was out of the race before it began, as he spun out on the first turn on lap No. 2. But he corrected himself before hitting the wall. There were a total of four cautions during the race.

Steve Kosiski took over second place on the seventh lap, and after working hard to get back in contention Schrader got back to third place before a caution flag stopped the action on lap 17.

Local racing veteran Ken Gundaker passed Schrader on lap 32, but Gundaker limped into the pits on lap 40, and Schrader had a look on third.

Schrader and Steve Kosiski stayed on Joe Kosiski's tail throughout the remainder of the event, but Joe was never seriously threatened as he slowly pulled further away during the final 10 laps.

"It's a thrill to defeat Kenny for the second year in a row," Joe Kosiski said. "And any time I can beat my brother is a thrill, too. They are always so tough." (See TRI-CITY, Page 5B) anywhere we need him to play for us to win," Granite City player/manager Daren DePew said.

From there, Eagle starter Darin Hendrickson mastered the Colt 45 hitters as he twirled a three-hitter over nine innings. The righthander struck out three and faced only 30 batters, or three more than the minimum.

"I've seen Darin sharper," said DePew, who called the game as the Eagle catcher. "But he had pretty good command. He threw mostly fastballs and the changeup."

After Don Stovall doubled and was thrown out trying to stretch it into a triple in the second, East St. Louis didn't have another baserunner until the sixth when Art May singled to center.

"(Hendrickson's) got our number," said May, the Colts' retiring player/manager. "They made the plays behind him and that first inning just killed us."

With one out in the first, Jamie Hogan doubled and moved to third on a delayed steal. DePew then grounded to short, but Rick Lewis couldn't make the play and Hogan scored as DePew reached safely.

John Moad walked and Duncan followed with a liner to right field, which scored DePew and Moad. Duncan slid under May's tag at the plate to make it 4-0.

Tim Hogan upped the Eagle advantage to 6-0 the next inning when he singled up the middle to score Bob Spotanski and Jeff Stephens. Bob Spotanski drove in the Eagles' seventh run an inning later on an RBI single.

Granite City completed the scoring in the sixth, when Duncan singled home Jamie Hogan.

Duncan was 2-for-4 with four RBIs in the game. Jamie Hogan added a pair of hits and scored twice. Bob Spotanski went 3-for-4, drove in a run and scored another.

East St. Louis was stymied by Hendrickson and went down in order in six of the nine innings. Hendrickson rarely had to make more than a dozen pitches per inning against the eager Colts.

Darin Hendrickson allowed just three hits over nine innings in Saturday's win.

Busch. The first myth is that a Girl Scout adult volunteer must be a female. Men may serve as a member of a leadership team.

Busch commented, "There are just as many dads who love their daughters as mothers, and this is the perfect way for a father to have fun in a meaningful program with his daughter and her friends."

The second myth is that volunteers have to be a parent of a girl. Busch said that while parents do make great leaders, so do many other people such as single career oriented persons, young married persons without children, or retirees.

Adults must be 18 years of age and enjoy working with children and other adults. Training and ongoing support is provided by other adults, so learning the program is not hard.

"I'm not going to say that everything about being leader is easy. Nothing worthwhile in life is ever easy. But I can't think of anything more important than the future of our young girls. The challenges we face today's girls whose lives have been better just because an adult took the time to spend quality time with them. Most of the time the leaders end up having as much fun as the girls do. Friends made in Girl Scouting often last a lifetime," said Busch.

Busch said if another 135 to 150 adults would have volunteered across the council's jurisdiction last year, all girls who wanted to be Girl Scouts could have been.

Back Talk

by Dr. Warren A. Stewart, Jr.

DIGESTIVE AID

Before taking another dose of antacid to deal with indigestion and heartburn, people with stomach problems may be better off seeking chiropractic treatment. This is an especially good idea before a digestive problem becomes severe or chronic. The chiropractor's goal is to achieve long-term relief by manipulating the spine in the area of the mid-back. It is here where nerves controlling the stomach emerge from their spinal opening. If these nerves are impinged or irritated on their way to the stomach, the digestive system may suffer. By removing the source of nerve interference, the chiropractor hopes to clear up the problem, not mask its symptoms with antacids.

Subluxations which cause stomach trouble or other ailments can be detected very early - often before symptoms are noticeable. If neglected, the condition may increase in severity. A visit to our office (10251 Lincoln Trail, Suite 12, Fairview Heights) at the first hint of "stomach trouble" should result in your speedy recovery with little or no complications. Don't suffer needlessly - call 398-2121 today to schedule an appointment. You have nothing to lose - and vibrant health to gain. Hrs.: Mon-Fri 8-5. P.S. The chiropractor is also trained in providing nutritional guidance that may help solve a digestive problem.

Tuition Shock: Cure found at BAC!

From coast to coast, countless families have experienced that gut-wrenching, mind-numbing feeling when opening a bill from a big college or university — TUITION SHOCK! But thousands of students in Southwestern Illinois, whether starting a four-year degree program or looking for the fast track to a rewarding career, have found a solution: BELLEVILLE AREA COLLEGE!

At BAC, tuition is just $35 per credit hour for district residents. That means students are saving thousands of dollars by using BAC as the stepping stone to a bachelor's degree, or by training in one of dozens of career programs while earning college credits (something not all trade schools offer).

Find out what BAC has to offer you. Call 1-800-BAC-5131, extension 526. If you already have a BAC class schedule, ask for extension 455 to register by telephone. To register in person, visit the Belleville Campus at 2500 Carlyle Road, the Granite City Campus at 4950 Maryville Road, or the Red Bud Campus at 500 W. South Fourth St. Don't delay. ## Food & Nutrition

Wise Ways

Seafood angles new favor for melt-in-the-mouth, low-fat perfection from the grill.
INSIDE

Living Lean for Adults

Skip rope, skip a meeting or skip stones — but don't skip breakfast to perk up the body and the mind.

Blue Ribbon Cook

No matter what is cooking on the grill, the sauce can move it from being a contender to a winner. This top one comes from Jamaica.
INSIDE

Private Label Test Run

People of many ages consider applesauce a comforting food of their youth. Journal tasters try the flavorful sauciness in three different jars from Price Chopper.
INSIDE

Micro Raves

Fresh tomatoes are the ruby in the fresh summer spectrum. Cooking them in a microwave shines up their appeal.

Lively Taste

Even high-fat ingredients can add a lot of flavor bang for a little buck. Sesame oil is one of those products. Known primarily in Oriental cuisine, its flavor is distinctive in stir-fry. Add just a few drops to mild vegetables; up to 1 teaspoon for most dishes. Sprinkle top with a teaspoonful of sesame seeds for flavor reinforcement, if desired.

Health & Fitness

Fresh Picks

Get off the banana boat and let bell peppers take charge for colorful, flavorful summer greens, yellows or reds. Stuff with rice and shrimp or a curried chicken mixture, heat up a Mexican bean mixture in them, or fill with pasta salad or low-fat dip.

Medicine Chest

Iron deficiency anemia has many causes, but can be treated by ingesting iron at times when the body is more likely to absorb it.

Big Fat Tip

Make smart substitutions. Broccoli is a healthful dream. Serving it with cheese sauce lets it drip with fat. By steaming  $\frac{1}{2}$  cup broccoli and sprinkling with butter-flavored granules, you save 11 $\frac{1}{2}$  grams fat over the same serving with cheese sauce.

Future Shop

The food industry's newest buzz word is "sensation." Look for products that pack a powerful sensation, such as that of a hot jalapeno pepper — but do not necessarily carry the jalapeno flavor.

Summer Sippers

Brad Wilson Photos

DRINK UP & COOL DOWN

By Janice Denham
Staff writer

Heat packs a big punch during the summer, but sociable sipping in the shade takes the sting out of a big thirst.

Water is the first source of comfort, but taste buds may seek more.

Whether taste runs to a lemonade stand or necessity turns it into a site for sun tea, cool drinks — slightly tart

but smoothly sweet —

soothe a parched throat and a wilted attitude.

Drinks with fruit and tea provide this fetching invitation.

Add ice and the drink places first in any heat.

Fruity Freshness

Fruit is a sweet sell these days. Bananas, raspberries, peaches, tangerines, pineapple — all get into healthy step as people rev up their renewable body engines with at least five fruit and vegetables serving a day.

Some fruits, like cranberries, need a sweet touch-up to be likable. Sweeteners include corn syrup, sugar

Max Robinson and Ellen Humphreys find a glass of lemonade refreshing for themselves and Raggedy Ann.

Apples hold their own sweet flavor in Best Choice natural applesauce, while sweet additions were made in this week's Private Label Test Run of applesauce in Best Choice and Always Save brands.

Private Label Test Run Applesauce appeals with its fruitiness

For one taster it is a comfort food, another never had tasted it. For all of them it was a lesson in contrasts.

This week's Private Label Test Run — three varieties under the Best Choice and Always Save brands from Price Chopper — is applesauce in 25-ounce jars.

Best Choice offers both natural (unsweetened) and sweetened varieties for 85 and 79 cents respectively, while Always Save has sweetened applesauce for 75 cents. National brands cost about $1.25 a jar.

One taster buys natural applesauce regularly. "Applesauce is my 'comfort food,'" she said. "The unsweetened is my favorite. This (Best Choice) is very normal, very apple-y."

The testers thought all three had good apple flavor, with the unsweetened carrying the most.

They also were surprised by the varying textures. Each was liked for its less pureed consistency than from the can.

When they were put on a plate, the natural applesauce mounded proudly. Of the sweetened varieties, Best Choice with corn syrup became a smooth mass, while the Always Save brand, which was sweetened with both corn syrup and sugar, had more body.

The testers found the intensity of sweetness hard to distinguish in the sweetened varieties, although they did taste different, which could be attributed to the type of apple used and the type, as well as the amount, of sweetener.

The color of each was consistent and attractive. None had any added seasoning.

"Just looking at them in the jar makes me want to do what I always do with applesauce — shake some cinnamon on top," one taster said.

Wise Ways

Seafood casts line toward grill

Start a new tradition. Go fish for your next barbecue.

Salmon, tomatoes marinated with black olives and feta cheese, corn on the cob and garlic bread iced down in my cooler recently traveled to the lake with my family. The fish filets, corn and garlic bread all cooked in about 15 minutes on my table-top grill. Chocolate cake finished the meal.

It was a picnic worth remembering.

Salmon and salmon grilled to melt-in-the-mouth perfection is a summer craving worth indulging. Grilled fish is a healthy, low-fat alternative to traditional barbecue. Rich-flavored and boneless, only 1/4 to 1/2 pound of boneless salmon is needed per serving. On sale at $4.99 per pound, a dollar or two per person is feasible to budget for a small group.

Evie Henson of National

Seafood Educators provides these tips for flavorful grilled fish:

- The aroma of strong fire starters and self-lighting briquets can overwhelm delicate fish flavor. Specialty woods like fruit woods or grapevine cuttings add subtle flavor. Add a handful of chips just before the fish goes on the grill.

- Marinades add flavor. Try a bottled salad dressing or a mixture of oil with vinegar, lemon or lime juice. Save a little unused marinade to baste the fish while cooking.

- Cook seafood 4 to 6 inches over a moderately hot fire.
- Cook fish steaks, filets, kabobs or shellfish directly over the heat source. Oil-perforated foil or a hinged fish basket keeps fragile fish from falling through.

- Large whole fish needs indirect heat. Start hot coals on either side of the grill and place fish in the middle.

FISH STEAKS WITH BASIL MARINADE 'N' AVOCADO SALSA

6 salmon, tuna, halibut, swordfish, shark or bluefish steaks (6 to 8 oz. each)
3/4 cup loosely packed, torn basil leaves or 2 tsp. dried basil
1/4 cup olive oil plus extra for oiling grill
1/4 cup lime juice
3 tsp. chopped green onion
1/4 tsp. grated lime peel
1/8 tsp. salt
1 firm-ripe avocado, peeled, sliced
1 large tomato, seeded, finely diced
Dash pepper sauce

Pat fish dry. Place in single layer in glass dish. Measure thickness of fish.

Combine basil, 1/4 cup olive oil, lime juice, 1 teaspoon green onion, lime peel and salt in food processor. Pulse 10 times or until basil is coarsely chopped.

Reserve 2 1/2 tablespoons basil mixture for salsa. Pour remainder over fish. Marinate fish 30 minutes, turning once.

Gently combine reserved marinade, avocado, tomato, remaining green onion and pepper sauce.

Grill fish on well-oiled grid, basting frequently with marinade. Cover, if desired. Turn after 5 minutes on re-oiled grid.

Micro Raves

Tomato hits red-ripe perfection

Nothing says "summer" like fresh homegrown tomatoes. Take advantage of the abundant supply and use them to brighten the table and flavor the menu.

Tomatoes are nutritious and delicious. They are high in vitamins A and C. Locally-grown ones have their own special flavor. Although tomatoes usually are served as a vegetable, they are actually a fruit.

STEWED FRESH TOMATOES

Combine onion, green pepper and oil in 1-quart micro-

1/4 cup chopped onion
1/4 cup chopped green bell pepper
1 tbsp. oil
2 slices bread, cubed
2 large ripe tomatoes, peeled, cut in wedges
1 tsp. salt
1/8 tsp. basil
1/4 tsp. parsley flakes
Pinch coarsely ground pepper wave-safe casserole. Microwave on high power, uncovered, 3 to 4 minutes until vegetables are tender and translucent.

Stir in cubed bread. Microwave on high power, uncovered, in 30-second intervals until bread cubes are slightly dry.

ZUCCHINI AND TOMATOES

2 tbsp. oil

2 zucchini, thinly sliced
2 medium tomatoes, sliced
1/2 cup sliced onion
1/2 tsp. garlic powder
1/2 tsp. Italian seasoning

Grated parmesan cheese
Combine oil and zucchini in microwave-safe casserole. Microwave, uncovered, on high power 3 minutes.

Stir in tomato, onion, garlic powder and Italian seasoning. Microwave, covered, on high power about 2 minutes until tomato is tender.

Living Lean for Adults

Breakfast is a 'must' for good health

In the hectic morning rush, few people schedule time to eat breakfast, even though their "engines" must be refueled for the work ahead.

Because so many children leave home with empty stomachs, many schools now serve breakfast. Just as teachers know children's school work suffers without breakfast, meal-skipping adults should realize their own performance lags.

A busy morning is no excuse. Start the day with a glass of orange juice and a slice of toast, while getting dressed. In lieu of sitting down and eating a bowl of cereal, take it along in a plastic bag. Portables like bananas, yogurt and bagels are easy to eat while stopped at red lights or later at a desk.

When the kids run for the bus, hand them a peanut butter and jelly sandwich instead of a toaster pastry. Unconventional items like a low-fat cheese sandwich or a soft pretzel work, too.

Kids love fat-free waffles cut in strips and spread with peanut butter. Low-fat granola bars or fruit bars do double-duty as a snack or a fast breakfast.

For those who like to drink breakfast, try a commercial instant breakfast or personal-size one by blending a banana and yogurt with orange juice, strawberries with milk or any concoction that suits you. Skip the raw egg because of the danger of bacteria.

Don't give in to the kids' pleas for cookies or doughnuts. Instead, make several batches of muffins on the weekend to freeze and use during the week. Pop them into a microwave to defrost or warm. Avoid commercial muffins because they contain large amounts of cholesterol-raising fat. Look for low-fat ones with no more than two grams fat each.

Pick up breakfast at a grocery store instead of a fast-food restaurant. You can buy just-baked bread and good coffee at a local bakery or coffee shop. A person who prefers McDonald's office can order an Egg McMuffin without cheese or a fat-free apple bran or blueberry muffin.

RAISIN BRAN MUFFINS

2 cups raisin bran cereal
1/2 cup boiling water
3/4 cup all-purpose flour
3/4 cup whole wheat flour

2 tsp. baking powder
1 1/2 tsp. cinnamon
1/4 tsp. salt
3/4 cup skim milk
1/2 cup shredded carrot
1/2 cup packed brown sugar
1/4 cup canola oil
1 egg, beaten

Preheat oven to 400°. Spray muffin cups with nonstick cooking spray.

Combine cereal and water. In medium bowl, combine all-purpose and whole wheat flours, baking powder, cinnamon and salt. Add milk, carrot, brown sugar, oil and egg to cereal mixture. Mix well. Add flour mixture. Stir until dry ingredients are just moistened.

Iron supplements differ in amount body can ingest

Anemia can be defined broadly as a deficiency of red blood cells. Several types of anemia have been identified. The most common is iron deficiency anemia.

It has been estimated that 10 to 30 percent of adult Americans are affected. Causes of iron deficiency anemia include poor diet, poor iron absorption, continuous long-term blood loss and pregnancy. Pre-menopausal women, children and adolescents are most susceptible.

Symptoms of iron deficiency anemia include weakness, fatigue, listlessness, shortness of breath, irritability and difficulty concentrating.

Iron deficiency anemia can be corrected with iron supplementation. Iron is available over the counter in several forms. Those supplements differ in an important way — the percentage of elemental, or "pure" iron, they hold.

Most over-the-counter iron products contain ferrous sulfate. Ferrous sulfate is 20 percent elemental iron. The higher the percentage of elemental iron, the more actual iron the body ingests. When comparing, keep in mind how many milligrams each tablet is totally to make comparisons evenly.

cream of coconut. Serve chilled without ice.

Valuable Helpers

In the long run, heat dissipates, humidity goes the way of summer and people look for refreshing material. Write for the following:

- A sun tea jar is available with two UPC codes from Lipton Tea Bag products and $1.50. Send to: Lipton Sun Tea Jar, P.O. Box 1018, DeLand, Fla. 32731.
- For free information about tea, write to: Tea Time, P.O. Box 1100, Department FF, Grand Rapids, Minn. 55745-1100.

Sippers

A label tells a drink's attributes:

- 100% juice: The percentage tells the amount of real fruit juice.
- Serving size: Should be one (8-ounce) cup.
- Sugars: There can be the same, no matter the percentage of juice, because there may be a similar amount of sugar. A 100 percent juice's sugars are all natural fruit sugars.

Vitamins: Lots of Vitamin C is what people expect in fruit juice. If it lists 100 percent, it is the daily amount recommended for good health in a single (8-ounce) glass. Juice with apricots or peaches boosts vitamin A.

Ingredients: Quantities are listed in decreasing amounts, so juice listed first is used in most quantity, second in lesser amount, and so on.

The mini-entrepreneur who moves into the tea market is flowing with its popularity.

Sun tea takes very little effort and requires no cooking credentials. Place three family-size tea bags or nine regular tea bags in a gallon jar. Fill the jar with cold water, cap loosely and place in hot sunshine away from combustible material 3 to 4 hours. Remove tea bags. Add sweetener and, if desired, lemon. Pour into ice-filled cups. Refrigerate within five hours of the time it started to brew.

Cool Comforts

Ice — lots and lots of it — is paramount.

An ice ring makes a big splash in a punch bowl. Freeze the punch itself so flavors are not diluted. To create new appeal as the ice melts, add a ring of frozen lemonade to iced tea or vice versa. For color, add berries, cut-up citrus, grapes and mint sprigs to the ring. Freeze at least five hours.

Ice cubes work the same.

Make kaleidoscope cubes of fruit water colored with different food colors.

The simple becomes sublime when iced tea is served in a champagne glass, pineapple juice comes with a maraschino cherry and mint sprig, raspberry juice goes 'meleba' with a scoop of peach frozen yogurt.

Tea Punch: Combine 3 cups sun tea, 2 cups ginger ale, 1 1/2 cups pineapple juice and 1/4 cup brown sugar. Peach Spritzer: Mix 1 cup peach juice and 1/4 cup self-zer water.

All-Day Juice Sensation: Rub tall glass with fresh mint sprigs. Drop the mint in the glass. Add ice. Pour in 3/4 cup pineapple-orange-banana juice and 1/2 cup diet lemon-lime soda. Add sliced lime.

Zesty Punch Sipper: Combine 1 bottle (40 ounces) peach juice, 1 can (6 ounces) mandarin tangerine juice, and 2 liters ginger ale. Add sliced orange and lime.

All-Day Fruit Cooler: Combine 1 bottle (40 ounces) mandarin tangerine juice, 1 can (6 ounces) frozen limeade concentrate and 2 liters diet ginger ale. Add 1 cup sliced strawberries, 1 cup grapes and 1 orange, sliced.

Pina Colada Mocktail: Prepare 1 can (6 ounces) limeade concentrate according to directions. Combine with 6 cups pineapple juice, 2 bottles (28 ounces each) mineral water and 1 can (15 ounces)

Savory sauce wins over the rib brigade

Virginia Monahan, Bellefontaine Neighbors, is the winner of this week's recipe contest for Jack Daniels Barbecue Sauce. For it she wins a prize of dinner certificates at the Pasta House Company.

The recipe comes from a chef in Jamaica. It can be used outdoors for grilling, as well as baking in the oven in the kitchen.

Recipes in the Pasta Salad Contest will be accepted through Aug. 31 for consideration as winner each of the four weeks in March.

Send one recipe per household to: Pasta Salad Recipe Contest, 1714 Deer Tracks Trail, St. Louis, Mo. 63131. Suggested entries can be for any type of salad that uses pasta — from macaroni to ravioli, shells to mostaccioli.

Type or print the recipe legibly on one side of the paper. Include name, address and telephone number on the entry. Name the Journal you receive. Be sure to double-check the recipe as it is written for both amounts and directions, including any variations that make this dish special.

If there is a history to the recipe, it will be considered part of the entry. It will be part of the basis for selecting winners, along with taste and eye appeal. Originality will be considered, although the recipe need not be original. If possible, name the recipe's source.

Winners are notified by mail. Duplicate entries will be considered on the basis of earlier entry or best compliance with the rules. Contest winners may enter again six months after their prize-winning publication date.

Squeeze refreshment into fruity lemonade

Fresh lemonade stars again. Nothing seems quite so refreshing on a warm, sunny day as a tall glass of icy lemonade.

Even the English poet Thomas Moore mentioned lemonade when he wrote about the Middle East's love of fresh lemons — and other things.

"A Persian's heaven is easily made: 'Tis but black eyes and lemonade."

Lemonade is easy to make the traditional way by combining water, sugar, fresh lemon juice and ice, or crushed fresh mint can be added to the beverage for a Minty Lemonade. Those worried about calories can make a pitcher of lemonade, using a low-calorie sugar substitute. Another spectacular lemonade is made with fresh berries.

Pour into large pitcher. Add cold water, sliced lemon and ice.

FRESH FRUIT LEMONADE

- 1 to 1 1/2 cups sliced ripe strawberries or whole raspberries or blueberries
- Juice of 6 lemons (1 cup)
- 1 cup sugar
- 4 cups cold water
- 1 fresh lemon, unpeeled, cut in cartwheel slices
- Ice cubes

In blender or food processor, blend berries, lemon juice and sugar until smooth.

LIGHT FRESH LEMONADE

Good Health

Big gulps alleviate that steamy summer thirst

With steamy August temperatures, it is critical to drink lots of liquids—at least six to eight cups a day, health authorities advise. A human body needs adequate fluids to function properly and summer's heat can cause dehydration if those fluids are not replenished regularly.

Drinking water is the simplest way to rehydrate. It also is the best during and after exercise.

For refreshment with meals and during the course of a day, fruit or vegetable juice can provide nutrition and satisfy thirst. Although juices do not provide dietary fiber the way fruits and vegetables do, they do give necessary vitamins and minerals.

Not all packaged fruit beverages are equal in nutrition. Their labels tell which have a high percentage of real fruit juice. The new labels require all companies to indicate the percentage of juice.

Fruit and vegetable juices are frequently high in vitamins C and beta-carotene—two vitamins among the most likely to lower cancer risk, according to studies from the American Institute for Cancer Research. They also can serve as good sources of potassium and other nutrients, especially if they are blended with fresh fruits like strawberries, raspberries, peaches and other summer favorites.

A cantaloupe shake is a refreshing breakfast. Blend together ½ cup unsweetened pineapple juice and 2 cups cubed ripe cantaloupe chunks. For a thicker drink, blend 1 cup plain low-fat yogurt, 2 tablespoons frozen orange juice concentrate and 1 cup fresh fruit.

Pairing different juices provides intriguing new tastes and terrific refreshment. Orange juice is delicious with pineapple, cranberry or white grape juice. Cranberry cocktail mixes well with pineapple, grapefruit or apple juice. Grape juice goes well with grapefruit or lemonade. Just combine the juices in equal parts and add ice. For a free guide to nutrients in beverages, write to: American Institute of Cancer

Research, Department BL, Washington, D.C. 20069.

SUNSHINE PUNCH

½ cup grapefruit juice
1 cup apple juice
¼ cup orange juice
1/8 tsp. ground ginger
1/8 tsp. cinnamon

1½ cups carbonated water
Pinch ground cloves

Blend grapefruit, apple and orange juices, carbonated water, cinnamon and cloves. Serve over ice.

FEELING FIT

By Mark Lymboropoulos

Smart swimmers use a Kickboard now and then and kick a few warmups to work legs only. The whip kick used in breast stroke is an ideal exercise to trim and tone thighs.

Chicken has cholesterol in the flesh as well as the skin—but the skin has lots more fat. Best bet: remove the skin, eat a little more flesh.

To work the buttocks, stand upright on the stair climber, with heels in contact with pedals. Don't hold on to the railing. More advanced exercisers can climb backward at low speeds.

Marathoners may take weeks or even months to recuperate. In the strenuous 26.2-mile race, the foot strikes the ground more than 20,000 times, repeatedly creating a force of three times body weight. This sends shock waves through the legs, pelvis and spine.

On an exercise bike, start out at about 45 revolutions per minute and work your way up to 75 to 90 rpm. Don't try to pedal slowly at a high tension setting; it puts too much of a load on legs, heart and lungs.

You'll find top-quality exercise machines—and supervision to help you use them right—at

Past perfect

SIUE costume archive strives to preserve period pieces

A pair of leather slippers from the 1830s. A gray, green silk dress from the 1870s. These and more than 200 other items are part of the costume archive at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

The department of theater and dance at SIUE is the home of a constantly growing collection of antique clothing from the 18th to modern day. Jack Smith, 28, head of costume design, said he hopes one day to have it documented in a book of photographs to "make the collection come alive."

THE ARCHIVE BEGAN when Reta Samples (now retired) served as head costume designer. What makes the collection unique is the origin of the items. A good number of them have been donated by families from throughout the area. Smith says, and they come with their personal history.

A rust-russet color silk dress from 1881 was worn by 18-year-old Annie Wilder Hudson on a trip from Edwardsville to Connecticut, Smith said.

THE OLDEST PIECES in the archive are the leather slippers from the 1830s, "estimated by the cut and line," said Smith. They were made from soft kid leather, still supple. They were white originally, Smith said. "You can see the lining was white," he said. "Now, they are a light tan color. The sole is very thin and designed to make the tiny, weak-size four, narrow) feel as if she were dancing on air."

Smith, in his first year at SIUE, said he feels very fortunate to be able to work with the archive. Combining degrees in art and costume design from Eastern Illinois University and SIUE at Carbondale with a love of history, Smith sometimes sounds like a clothing archaeologist. Professor Lynn Kluth, chair of the department, echoed that thought: "Jack Smith's work with antique costumes is focused not so much on artifacts taken out of their original environments, but rather on the human stories behind the artifacts. As such, his work is centered on the very nucleus of theater. The stories of people who should not be forgotten."

SMITH'S HISTORY KNOWLEDGE helps him date pieces. The gray, green dress is from the 1870s, Smith said, because of the detail on the lace trim, the color and the fabric itself. "Some techniques of trimming a garment were lost by certain periods. Also, the colors and fabrics that were popular or available at certain times can verify certain periods," he said. Generally, people were smaller then, too. The green dress was cut for a 16-inch waist.

Smith said he is fascinated by the historic costumes made by the styles of the times. He refers to a book titled "The Ladies' Guide To Needle Work, Embroidery, Etc." written in 1873. One excerpt from the book reads: "Too much cannot be said in favor of this branch of feminine education, and it is a grievous error to allow girls to arrive at maturity ignorant of the full use of the needle. It should be introduced into the daily routine of every school... and as early as possible every girl should be required to make and keep in perfect repair the articles in her own wardrobe."

THE INVENTION of the sewing machine was meant to make women's lives easier, Smith said. Instead, women used the new invention to create more complicated garments in an effort to be stylish, he said. The style of the period was set in Paris. By the time it reached the shores of New York, it was already out of date. But women were eager for new styles and river traffic brought people, ideas, and new fashions. St. Louis, Smith said, was more stylish than many other areas in the Midwest because of the Mississippi. New fabric was often available before new styles, Smith said, but "women were frugal." For that reason, one garment may actually represent several years of time. Women would adapt an existing dress to a new style, Smith said. While the fictional Scarlett O'Hara may have used fabric from her drapery, most women were content to update an old dress with a new trim. "The green dress, for example, had a lace trim on the collar from one period and trim on the sleeves from a later period," Smith said.

PRESERVING THE COLLECTION is a careful process. All of the antique pieces are stored in muslin, which has been washed six times to remove detergent and sizing. "Muslin breathes and it's much less expensive than other methods of preservation," Smith said. The antique items also serve their educational purpose while being preserved. Smith has re-created two of the oldest dresses on half-scale dressmaker dummies for use in his costume design and history course. "It's much easier for students to see and study them than from pictures," he explained. The half-scale re-creations serve another purpose as well. Smith is making detailed patterns for use in a book he's writing on Victorian period dress.

SMITH SAID HE FINDS the traditional books costumed use have what a design looks like but not enough detail on how to put it together. He said he hopes to provide patterns "that anyone with minimal sewing experience can create." He also wants to include the techniques used in the period for authentic trimming of garments. Smith credits his mother for his sewing skill: "She was a very progressive woman. To her there was no such thing as women's work or men's work. There was just work that needed to be done. So, she taught me to sew."

SMITH MAY HAVE ENOUGH material for a whole series of books. Another aspect that makes the archive special is the period of time it covers. "One of the best things in the collection is a complete wedding trousseau from the 1920s," (See DRESS, Page 7C)

Horoscope

Wednesday, Aug. 10
 Exceptions to every rule seem to come up today — but you're ready to improvise a fair way to handle them. Cranky people should be handled with diplomacy — they'll respond because the moon and Venus in Libra are strong mediating influences. Shop with care and without plastic — everything looks so pretty that buying is hard to resist. Put only healthy snacks in the refrigerator.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) A good friend helps you understand the purpose behind a boss' or mate's recent strange behavior. Money matters don't need to be frustrating — one who is practical and level-headed will lead you through.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) A promised raise comes through, or a new job pays as well as you'd hoped. You have a healing, soothing touch to help a loved one through a rough time. A business merger may have a big future — consider it.

GEMINI (May 21-June 21) Get holiday travel plans lined up. Today's the brightest day in many for romance — hold on to your head as your heart lifts you. Flattery comes from several directions. Creative efforts bring extraordinary results.

CANCER (June 22-July 22) Don't just think about distant family — drop them a line or give them a call. Business and pleasure might be combined in one trip — think about ways to have the fun you want and keep on top of duties, too.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) It won't be easy to fit into a routine today — focus on profits and fun, such as planning a profit-making venture with a good friend. A phone call from one who loves you puts a song in your heart.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Be meticulous in appearance and thoughtful in action — your perfectionist streak is working for you now while everyone is watching. Don't work against yourself by wasting time criticizing.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) That happy aura you're carrying is quite contagious — you inspire cooperation, even among those who normally cannot share your viewpoints. A fellow Libra helps you adapt to new times and methods.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 21) Hidden benefits may come from unexpected places. Give the benefit of the doubt in an argument over facts. Your secretive tendencies pay off where money is concerned. A Libra friend has much to offer.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21) It's a terrific day to mix business and pleasure, which you're already very good at. Allow a lover the same freedom you demand for yourself. Organizational memberships are lucky associations now.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) The independent path is the one that leads to success. Don't concentrate too much on money, security and possessions. You have a great influence on younger people — have some fun with them.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18)

Don't let a negative thinker burst your idea bubble — you're used to seeing what is not apparent to others. Check legalities carefully before signing deals involving money. Ask a Libra, too.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20) Working in a partnership is very beneficial now. Tend to the basics, especially doing laundry and writing checks — there are overdue bills hiding at the bottom of a pile? A secret that comes to light vindicates you.

'Royal' songs often hit Top 40 charts

By Bill Beggs
 Correspondent

ROCK 'N' ROYALTY: Its tabloid-ready weirdness notwithstanding, The King's princess, Lisa Marie Presley, is indeed married to the King of Pop, Michael Jackson. Through the years there's been a divine quantity of royal numbers on Billboard's Top 40, from Roger Miller's "King Of The Road" to Whitney Houston's "Queen Of The Night."

1. "Duke Of Earl" was a No. 1 hit in the winter of 1962 for whom?

2. What was the No. 3 hit in the late summer of 1983 for The Police?

3. Who hit No. 1 29 years ago this week with "I'm Henry VIII, I Am"?

4. What was the No. 12 hit in (See ROYAL, Page 8C)

Smith said. The collection spans the succeeding decades, including the 1980s. "Now is the time to save those styles," Smith said.

But that doesn't mean Smith and the department have stopped looking for items to add to the archive. "Even if someone thinks a garment is just an old piece of fabric, call us. I'll come get it myself. And I will guarantee its life," Smith said.

Band looking for success

Members of Phineas Gage hope the band will soon become one of the area's hottest bands. The band is made up of drummer and vocalist Dave Plantz, bassist and vocalist Jeremy Johnson and guitarist and vocalist Mike Lipchik, all Granite City residents.

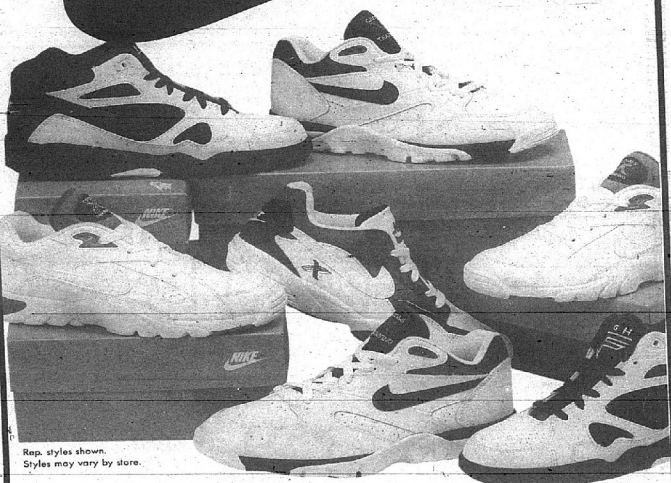

Plantz, 24, has been playing drums for nine years and has mainly a rock-n-roll background. Johnson, 20, has been playing bass for about five years and plays a funk style. Lipchik, 18, has been playing guitar for about six years and plays alternative with a slight rock background. Three different styles, one band.

After a lineup change a few months ago, Johnson and Lipchik recruited Plantz to complete the trio. Since the formation of Phineas Gage, the band has played several shows around Laclede's Landing and will headline the evening lineup at the Bernard Pub, 214 Morgan St., Laclede's Landing, Thursday, Aug. 11. The show starts at 9 p.m.
